FAIR OF EUROPEAN PEACE HANGS ON SLINDER THREAD; GERMAN ARMY MOBILIZING?

German Emperor Gives Czar of Russia 24 Hours to Explain Military Movements; Censorship Established at Berlin to Prevent Publication of War News

BRITISH ARMY AND NAVY ARE BEING PLACED ON WAR FOOTING

AUSTRIA WILL NOT CONSENT TO MODIFICATION OF TERMS, WHICH RUSSIA CONSTRUES TO MEAN FORCED INTERVENTION FOR SERBIA

JAPAN WOULD BE FORCED TO SUPPORT ENGLAND IN EVENT OF GENERAL WAR

LONDON, July 31. (Friday) At a midnight session

This is interpreted here as implying preparations for German mobilization, and it is believed that a few hours will decide whether Europe is to be plunged into general warfare.

It is fully expected, both at London and Berlin, that the Russian foreign minister, Sergius Sazonoff, will reply to Germany's demand for an explanation to the effect that Russian mobilization has already been ordered and cannot be canceled.

In the event of Germany mobilizing, it is expected that Premier Asquith will immediately ask parliament to sanction a large vote of credit as a necessary precaution.

With the exception of official reports from Vienna, given in the briefest form and thus far dealing with the bombardment of Belgrade and the capture of several vessels on the Danube, little reliable news has been received in London concerning the course of hostilities.

Numerous reports are current that battles are in progress at various points, including one report from Milan that a heavy engagement is taking place south of Belgrade, but according to Serbian official accounts, all attempts on the part of the Austrians to cross the river have been resisted, and the reports of the occupation of Belgrade are considered premature.

While the news of the actual developments in the Austro-Serbian war is unsatisfactory, the general situation is one of growing menace. There is a vague report that Austria and Russia are still engaged in diplomatic negotiations through the medium of Berlin, diplomatic intercourse between these two countries having been suspended, but slender hopes are entertained of success in this direction.

GERMANY DEMANDS RUSSIA EXPLAIN MOVE IN 24 HOURS

Germany has addressed a note to Russia requiring an explanation of Russia's mobilization, and, in the absence of a satisfactory reply, it is feared Germany may take steps to mobilize also. It is understood that on the failure of his conference scheme, Sir Edward Grey invited Germany to find a way out of the difficulties and all eyes now are turned to the German emperor as the man upon whom Europe's fate depends.

It is believed that if the German

JAPAN MIGHT JOIN WITH GREAT BRITAIN IN GREAT CONFLICT

Fleets of Many Nations in Orient Where Fighting Would Occur

TOKIO, July 30.—Japan's attitude on the European crisis may be described as one of watchful waiting. Should Great Britain become involved in a war, and British rights and interests in eastern Asia or India be menaced or attacked, it is stated that Japan, in fulfillment of her alliance with Great Britain, will assist that country. However, if the war is limited to Europe, Japan probably will remain neutral.

Several of the newspapers say the withdrawal of Russian forces from the far east would afford Japan an opportunity to extend her influence in Asia. A suggestion that Japan and the United States simultaneously essay mediation in the European crisis.

The first Japanese fleet is lying in Tokyo bay. The second fleet is engaged in torpedo practice off the coast of Korea.

May Fight With England.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The possibility that Japan might become involved in a general war should her ally, England, be drawn into the threatened vortex in Europe, was discussed today in diplomatic circles here. The existing treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Japan, signed in 1902 and renewed in 1911, provides that the two countries shall support each other in event of an attack or aggressive action.

DANIELS SIGNS CONTRACTS FOR THREE RAU FSHIPS

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Secretary Daniels today signed the contract plans for the three new battleships authorized by congress this year. These ships, to be named the California, Mississippi and Idaho, will be the largest battleships as yet designed for the United States navy, and their construction exclusive of armor and armament, has been limited to $1,800,000 each.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on the dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.
A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. Adv.

FATE OF EUROPEAN PEACE HANGS ON SLENDER THREAD; GERMAN ARMY MOBILIZING?

emperor desires peace will be maintained. The German view is that it behooves Great Britain and France to bring pressure upon Russia to allow the two principals to settle their differences without outside interference. In the meantime, every nation in Europe is taking active steps to be prepared for any eventualities.

AUSTRIA WILL NOT CONSENT TO MODIFICATION OF TERMS

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Vienna, who is often the mouthpiece of the Austrian government, says that Sir Edward Grey's mediation proposal must not have the object of modifying the peace terms agreed upon by the belligerents.

"The Austro-Serbian conflict in all its phases, from the wording of the note to the ratification of a peace treaty," he says, "is deemed to be a matter which concerns the states alone, just as Count von Aehrenthal, the late Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, refused firmly to discuss the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina with any power but Turkey, and accepted the suggestion to come to a conference on the express condition that this question should be eliminated from the list of topics to be dealt with."

"So will Count von Berchtold decline to admit any interference between Austria and Serbia when the conditions of peace are being settled, signed and ratified."

BRITISH ARMY AND NAVY PREPARE FOR EVENTUALITIES

If the correspondent's statement represents the Austrian policy, as probably it does, war with Russia appears to be inevitable.

The British navy is prepared for war at a moment's notice, and the British army is quietly and swiftly preparing. The war office throws cold water on the word "mobilization" and has issued another carefully framed notice to the newspapers that only "the usual precautions" are being taken.

Nevertheless, every step necessary to place the land forces on a war footing, except the summoning of the territorial officers, has been taken. All the territorial officers received orders today to be prepared for a call to duty.

A large section of the engineers' staff of the territories has been ordered on duty. It consists of electricians, mine-layers, bridge-builders and searchlight and light-house experts. Some of these forces are being sent to Ireland to replace the engineers of the regular army, all of whom have been withdrawn from duty in connection with the land defenses, particularly on the eastern coast.

ILLNESS ONLY EXCUSE FOR ABSENCE FROM THE SERVICE

Every officer and private of the regular establishment, have been recalled; the only reason for absence accepted is serious illness. All the police on leave, likewise have returned to duty, some of them to replace the soldiers guarding the military stores and stations, who are needed elsewhere. The forces at Aldershot, detached from other points, and a battalion of the Duke of Cornwall's regiment, which was about to embark for Hong Kong, has been detained.

The searchlight stations on the eastern coast, whose office is to guard against a surprise invasion and which usually are manned by skeleton staffs, are now fully manned, largely by territorialists. Coastwise steamers report the lights all along the coast as being in operation all last night, playing their shafts on every incoming vessel and every outgoing vessel.

FLEET IN POSITION TO STRIKE AT THE NORTH SEA

None but the admiralty, which is in constant touch through wireless at Whitehall, knows the whereabouts of the first fleet, which left Portland yesterday, but it is a safe presumption that the fleet is in a position close to the channel, where it can strike the North sea in the event of hostilities.

The crisis could not have arisen at a more convenient time for the navy, as the fleet has just been through a review on a war footing which took the place of maneuvers this year.

A notice has been issued virtually closing Portsmouth harbor to private craft, according to a Central News dispatch. Only certain anchorages may be used and vessels may be fired on without notice if they move. They cannot enter or leave the harbor without permission. The ferry service may be stopped at any time.

TWO GERMANS ARRESTED AS SPIES IN ENGLAND

Two Germans, suspected of being spies, were arrested in the Isle of Wight yesterday and are detained in jail. The political forces of the country also are almost mobilized solidly, presenting in Premier Asquith's words to the house of commons today, "a united front."

The remarkable sight was witnessed today at a dinner Asquith and Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, who a few days ago were on terms of personal, as well as political, hostility, driving in the same car for a consultation with Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs.

The British minister announced in the house of commons that the signing bill to the home rule bill would be dropped for the present by the consent of all parties; all parties included the Irish Nationalists and the Ulster covenanters. Mr. Bonar Law said:

"In view of the prime minister's pronouncement that peace and war are in the balance, domestic differences must not prevent our presenting a united front in the council of the world."

He added a word in behalf of Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, to the same effect.

The spectacle of a solid front in support of the government by all sections of the Irish members in the house of commons was even more remarkable than the reconciliation of Mr. Asquith and Mr. Bonar Law. The traditional sentiment of the home rule party, that the extremists is Ireland's opportunity was buried when the Irish members murmured, "Hear, hear!" to the premier's plea for unity.

Not only the home rule question, but all measures likely to cause international hostilities have been subjected to a scrutiny. They include the naval vote, which inevitably excites discussion of Germany's policy, and the vote for imperial defense. Nevertheless, there is a strong, although apparently a minority feeling, that Great Britain should maintain neutrality whatever comes, and refuse to be drawn into the quarrels of the continental powers. The peace section of the Liberal party, which through past years of strained relations with Germany, has worked for reconciliation, and a which often has been called "the little Englanders" is taking a strong stand against the war.

LABOR PARTY OPPOSES WAR, AS DO SOCIALISTS

The Labor party also opposes war. Its members in the house of commons today adopted a resolution praising Sir Edward Grey for his attitude at mediation and saying: "The Labor party hopes that on no account will this country be dragged into a European conflict in which, as the prime minister has stated, we have no direct or indirect interest."

The resolution calls upon all the labor organizations to oppose the war vigilantly. Socialists in several cities have held meetings of protest against the war.

The Dutch reservists in England have received telegraphic instructions to return to Holland forthwith.

The Cunard Steamship company denise the report printed in the United States that the Aquitania has been commandeered for war service.

Applications for passports at the foreign office this week have exceeded all records.

AUSTRO-SERBIAN WAR BULLETINS

LONDON, July 30.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to Reuters' Telegraph company says it is believed in St. Petersburg that Austria will declare war against Russia tomorrow. The dispatch adds that if this should be the case, it is understood that Emperor Nicholas will go to Moscow to deliver a pronouncement in the Uspensky cathedral.

LONDON, July 30.—The war office tonight sent a request to all newspapers to refrain from publishing news of British military and naval movements. The transfer of troops from Ireland to England has begun. The Cornwall regiment left Newry tonight.

RAIN MAROONS HUNDREDS

The roads were damaged to some extent, but are entirely passable.

Roads in other parts of the country were badly damaged, the exact extent of which will not be known until today when the road overers investigate. All creeks in the region were rushing torrents at an early hour this morning and sand and debris were washed out into a part of the streets on the lower levels.

Railroad traffic was brought to a standstill by the storm. Denver and Rio Grande No. 15 bound from Denver for Leadville and San Luis valley was held up here and had not left at an early hour this morning. No track washouts were reported, but no men had investigated the road and all trains were held at the nearest stations awaiting orders on condition of the roadbed.

The Santa Fe railroad reported but little trouble, and all trains were running practically on schedule. The Colorado Midland reported a clear track and no trouble.

Many People Made

About 800 people were marooned by the street car tieup and many did not reach their homes until 3 o'clock this morning. The company ran cars and accommodated all their passengers.

Automobiles were unable to navigate the treacherous roads and streets for several hours and the carriage men did a hard office business. The storm was the worst of the year and the rainfall in the two hours was estimated at nearly two inches.

MANCHURIAN CORN SEIZED BY THE U. S. AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., July 30.—The department of agriculture yesterday seized 5142 bushels of Manchurian corn that had just arrived on a Japanese steamer. The corn, like that of two previous shipments, was seized on the ground that it was infected with weevils and the consignees probably would be obliged to grind it into stock feed.

News of the Courts

Two itinerant musicians, Charles Conklin and A. M. McFarland, were arrested Wednesday night held at the city jail until yesterday afternoon and then turned over to the county authorities on charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency. They are accused of giving beer to a 16-year-old boy, who has been working with them as a "dog dancer." The boy, who says his home is in Goodland, Kan., is being held at the detention home. He told Chief of Police Stark that he met the three men in Goodland, and that the three beat their way here on a freight train. They have been around the saloons in Hamona, and it was there, according to the police, that the men gave the boy the beer.

Police Magistrate Manning at the session of police court this morning probably will be required to rule just what is an auction in deciding the cases of A. Simon and Mike Jacobs. They are accused of violating the auctioneers' ordinance by selling goods at auction without a license. The city charges a license of $5 a day for auctioneers and an occupation license of $55 a day for the auction of new goods. Both Simon and Jacobs were formerly in business as auctioneers and city officials charge the manner in which they are now selling goods is much like an auction.

The Smith-Brooks Printing company of Denver has filed a money demand suit in the county court against E. M. De La Vergne for $400.

Burns Audience Puts on Midnight Show

Crowd, Caught in Rain, Gives Vaudeville

Half past the hour all here just as they thought the rain was about to cease after an hour and a half's drenching downpour the clouds seemed to split asunder—well beautiful words might sound better but one of the crowd, caught in the rain, gave a watchful waiter expressed it exactly when he said "Aha, after all around all this time I believe it's really going to rain."

It was a cheerful one who started the singing. When he got a good bar for his near-wit he suddenly conceived a brilliant idea. So he carefully picked a periwinkle down the crowded street, and, standing at the foot where the calcium naturally would be the brightest and using an umbrella for a hat—that was the only thing an umbrella was good for at that particular moment—he started his chorus. The members by lot entered into the spirit of the thing with a will. Incidentally, they must have attended a Billy Sunday meeting, for those who couldn't sing followed Rody's advice and whistled.

But to get back to the song, Harry had, "Hail, Hail, ended then the village cut-up launched bravely on "How Dry I Am." He was chased into the rain and finally forced to see refuge in the theater. But his student had started the crowd from the theater several hundred people walking up and down the promenade suddenly saw the joke of the whole affair, caught up the songs and "Aha" is shown that did fair to rival the event of the evening.

What's this all about? We forget to mention that little part.

About five minutes before the end "Confusion" at the Burns last evening mighty peal of thunder fairly shook the big building. Several rushed out to beat the storm home. But they were too late. The downpour had started. When the crowds pushed out a few moments later a solid sheet of water shut out from view the buildings on the opposite side of the street. Efforts were made to get the orchestra together to give a concert, but some had done a marathon through the stream in the center of Pikes Peak avenue, and music was out of the question.

The crowd naturally found its way back into the theater, where several self-appointed monologists found it an attraction for some time. Then someone began a parade. Five minutes later a child looking in on the scene would have known by the look of the "leader" that the parade was a "play" rather than a "leader." In the meantime, a crowd had packed the stairs in the entrance to the office building that they might make a quick getaway the moment the rain ceased. It was this bunch that conceived the idea of staging an entertainment—rather, it was the cheerful one in the bunch. Which brings us up to date.

Taxis? Carriages? They seemed to be out of question. Call after call was sent in but it seemed that about everybody else in the city had used for a conveyance at that particular time. At any rate, never a carriage put in an appearance.

"Give us an express wagon with a cover on it," someone shouted. "Sure, give us anything," another said.

But anything wasn't to be had. Then the show started.

About midnight one carriage and a taxi were secured and the last we remember they still were making trips from the theater a regular intervals. And a crowd was still talking about "putting on a party."

WHY?

WHEN the Democratic state assembly got itself assembled in Denver yesterday, Mr. H. A. Hicks, temporary chairman and veteran wheelhorse, advanced to the front of the rostrum to thrill his enthusiastic hearers with a panegyric on the glorious achievements of the untirred Democracy. It was Mr. Hicks' cue to make the keynote speech, to whoop 'er up, by telling of the greatness of Jefferson and Jackson and Wilson, and, of course, of Ammons. The gentle reader understands, even if nobody else does, that Ammons has more claim to greatness just now than any of the other Democrats, past or present, because his party has simply got to go into this campaign on his record, whether it wants to or not.

Did the peerless Hicks rise to the occasion? He did not. He told the assembly all about the achievements of the administration at Washington. He expounded the tariff bill and elucidated the currency law. He said a few kind words for the Mexican policy, pointed with pride to the prospects of a continuance of the era of grape-juice diplomacy, and then, while the audience sat breathlessly waiting for his staunch defense of the sagacious policy whereby Governor Ammons stopped the coal strike in its very beginning and saved Colorado from the loss of life, business disturbance, industrial unrest, military debt, and other dire consequences that would have followed a possible strike he sat down.

Our felicitations to Mr. Hicks. As a temporary chairman he is an unqualified success. Of course there will be people stupid enough to wonder why he didn't say something about the splendid achievements of the Ammons administration, on which the Democrats base their claim to a continuance of power. But why waste time arguing with stupid people?

THE CANDIDATE SALUTES HIMSELF

LAST Monday we read with interest a most excellent and appreciative editorial in the columns of our contemporary, the Evening Telegraph. It was headed, "Our Most Important Office," and little did we suspect that the "our" in the caption was in this case a synonym for the editorial "we." But the editor wrote with the pen of prophecy. He started off with a few valedictories for the Legislature, not as it is, but as it ought to be, when "composed of men of our highest caliber."

Again observe that editorial "our." The unsuspecting reader probably thought it a bit of careless construction, the use of "our" instead of "the." But now it appears that the editor knew what he was doing; he had a few designs of his own on that senatorial job. Hence his editorial demand that the Legislature shall hereafter "be composed of men of our highest caliber."

Just to show the contrast between "ourselves" and other possible candidates he described the sort of people who should not be nominated for the Legislature. There must be "no political hacks;" on the contrary, only "good substantial citizens." "Strong, able and substantial men who will reflect credit on themselves and their community." The assemblyman should be "a patriot and a citizen."

Understand, too, that "the office of senator and representative (sic) should not be thrown out as a piece of political pie, but should be considered as one of the most important offices in the gift of the people." And, finally, this peroration: "When we make it an honor for a man to be elected to the Legislature, then we shall have a Legislature which will honor the people of Colorado."

Evidently the editor has decided that the time has come for "ourselves" to be honored, or to honor the people of Colorado, or something of the sort, for in the proceedings of yesterday's Republican assembly the "honors" came his way. Of course it was altogether spontaneous and unpremeditated, but somehow it happened that the list of nominations includes, "For State Senator, David Elliot."

Nor is this all. In the occasional news stories on the forthcoming Republican assembly, printed in the Telegraph in the last two or three weeks, we have noted the same confident predictions as to the impeccable character, transcendent ability and general all-around superlativeness of the candidates to be chosen. We can better understand the assurance with which these predictions were made now that we learn of the selection by the assembly of Mr. A. E. Hayes, political reporter for the Telegraph, as official aspirant to the job of county clerk and recorder. Really, it looks as if the Telegraph was dramatist personae, stage manager, author, audience and dramatic critic of that little performance at the Court House yesterday afternoon, all rolled into one. For in addition to finding places on the ticket for the editor and the political reporter, the Assembly made obeisance to the owner, Mr. Hamlin, as its Grand Panjandrum.

In leaving this interesting subject it is hard to resist the temptation to quote another excerpt from "our" editorial tribute to "ourselves." It is this:

The Telegraph expects to be non-partisan in the matter of supporting candidates for the Legislature, because it is and ought to be, under present conditions, a non-partisan office.

Heavens! Does this mean that the Telegraph is going to be so everlastingly non-partisan that it can't be persuaded to support the Republican nominee for state senator?

THE RESPONSIBILITY

EACH day's reports from Europe seemingly increase the probability of a general war. Russia's declaration that she would not remain neutral, and Germany's demand for an explanation, within twenty-four hours, of the mobilization of the Russian army, almost preclude the possibility of limiting the conflict to the two nations now involved.

It is hard to avoid the conclusion that if the war does become general the big share of responsibility will rest on the German government. A possible way out was offered last Tuesday when Great Britain offered to mediate the questions at issue between Austria, Russia and Germany. All of the powers except Germany indicated their willingness at least to consider the proposal, but the German foreign office returned a curt refusal on the wholly insufficient ground that it would be beneath the dignity of Austria to appear before an arbitration court on an equal plane with little Serbia. It is significant that this answer was followed within two hours by the publication of Austria's formal declaration of war.

Despite his warlike demonstrations the German emperor has always shown himself to be the friend of peace. There is no doubt that the fear of Germany's military prowess has more than once acted as a preventive of war in Europe. But in this case there is ground for at least a suspicion that Germany is not only ready but anxious to fight.

SIGN 'EM UP!

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The city council has passed a commendable regulation requiring the carriage drivers to abstain from the use of intoxicants. No good citizen could object. If such requirement is good for carriage drivers, why not require every city employee to sign the same pledge? It is good for employees, why not equally good for city officials? E. D. OLNEY

A SCHOOL CONTRACT

To the Editor of The Gazette:
I read with much interest your recent announcement of the award of a contract for the addition to the Helen Hunt school to a Denver firm. From the comparative size of this piece of work the first thought to enter the lay mind is that the savings made by such action of the school board is insufficient to dispel the idea of an injustice to local business.

At the same time that the slogan, "Patronize Home Industry," is sounded by the merchants and dealers and other forces whose powers are being exerted in the upbuilding of our commonwealth, there comes this action from our own elected body politic. If an institution representative of ourselves invites and encourages the competition of outsiders because a trifling amount can be saved, how much less likely is the money to be applied by all our citizens and yet maintain the stability of home industry? Some form of protective tariff locally applied is essential to the progress of every vigorous community, and when it is disregarded by our own elective body, the justification for its evident to all.

J. M. GINNIS.
Colorado Springs, July 30.

FROM OTHER PERSPECTIVES

OCEAN FLIGHT POSTPONED
From the Philadelphia Inquirer.
Lieutenant Porte has concluded to wait until October before making an effort to cross the sea in a hydroaeroplane, and for the soundest of reasons.

It appears that calculations of efficiency were at fault and that the America by no means comes up to expectations. The crucial matter of setting out of the water has been settled, but only by adding another engine. It was expected that this extra propeller could be used only for lifting purposes, but it offers so much resistance while idle that it must be kept in commission, which means the consumption of more gasoline than counted upon, more than can be carried for the entire trip, and the plan of establishing a relay ship in mid-ocean with supplies of gasoline has been abandoned as impracticable. Many persons look upon the scheme as utterly foolhardy, and consider that success would be of no value. That is a short-sighted view of the case. All progress has come through attempting the hazardous or seemingly impossible, and almost every such effort has eventually succeeded to the great benefit of the human race. This generation may not see an aerial transatlantic transportation, but that it is coming may be conceded since it is now after all a mere matter of detail.

OPENING THE CANAL

From the Boston Evening Transcript.
It is with lively expectancy that the people of this country await the opening of the Panama canal for commercial service on the fifteenth of next month, as the secretary of war has just announced. There is to be no flourish of trumpets, at least at the outset, but just an unimpressive setting down to business and opening up of a new artery for the world's commerce. It will be of unusual interest to watch the development of transportation through this short cut between continents, and it may take a different form from any that has been anticipated. It is evidently having an effect in advance upon certain large interests. While wheat prices are a little shaky in Chicago, they are unusually firm in the Pacific northwest.

The explanation of this, which is given by the Spokane Spokesman-Review, is that on account of the near approach of active operations through the canal, ship owners are willing to take 10 shillings a ton less this year than their charter rates a year ago for grain carried from the Columbia river and Puget sound to Liverpool. The province of Victoria, in British Columbia, according to our consul there, says that the new conditions will be an enormous benefit to that section, and that the canal has been made for carrying 15,000,000 feet of lumber from that point to Toronto bay at a saving of from 43 to 54 per 1,000 feet. Special efforts to secure the benefits of these new opportunities have apparently been confined to the cities and the big ports of the country in particular, but to quote again the Spokane Review, the larger effect will be observable among "the producers of basic wealth in the back country." "It seems now," is its prediction, "that the immediate benefits will come to the farmer, the camp, the mine and the orchard, and ambitious ports must wait for their gain in a prospective and resulting way."

But whenever the nerve centers of the new stimulus pass by the throat of their exciting will reach from shore to shore and from center to circumference. If the back country will furnish the producers the ports need not worry about their share in the resultant prosperity. We believe public expectation has not been raised too high with respect to what the new waterway will do for this country and the world, and it is an inspiring thought that after being talked about for 300 years, it is now an accomplished fact at a time when the business universe particularly needs it.

THE HIGH PRICE OF BEEF

From the Cincinnati Times-Star.
Government seems to have degenerated into just one investigation after another. When the high price of beef was first investigated, the conclusion was reached that the tariff was to blame. After much explosive anathema directed at the administration in power, a president and congress were elected with a mandate to revise the tariff and presto! to reduce the price of beef. The first part of the mandate has been observed. But the "presto" part has not worked. The price of beef is higher, notwithstanding Argentine competition. So we are again investigating.

Efficient Eating

BY RUTH CAMERON

"Men dig their graves with their teeth," said Seneca some hundreds of years ago, and if anything it is truer now than it was in his day.

We sit at tables loaded with too much food, and while we eat far more than we need to support life, far more than our digestion can possibly take care of, we talk about the high cost of living and the next impossibility of supporting life under present conditions.

Now be it emphatically understood that I am not one of those who say that being more economical is the way to solve the problem which the vastly increased cost of the necessities of life, and stationary or but slightly increased wages, have forced upon a large number of people. If we simply contented ourselves with living more economically and did try to have things set right, that would mean that the buying power of wages would be pushed down still further, and we should be no better off than now.

My feeling about the matter is this. If we common folks can live more economically and at the same time more healthily, let's do it for our own sakes and let keep right on trying to have evils corrected and to get everything that belongs to us. Then if we ever do get things straightened out, our habit of economical eating will mean that we will have just so much larger a margin for other purposes.

Of course you realize that by economical eating I do not mean scripping or eating bad food. I mean efficient eating. "Efficiency" according to the dictionary means "the ratio of useful work to energy expended." Efficiency in eating is the ratio of energy produced to the cost of food eaten.

Different conditions and different kinds of work demand different foods.

In a family where there is plenty of money and to spare the noon lunch is always a simple soup, thin cut bread and a light dessert. The man of the house does mental work and although he could easily afford rich and elaborate food he feels that he can work much better on what his wife calls "his genius lunch."

A gentleman farmer's wife had to plan the meals for half a dozen hired men. The work was new to her and she gave them dainty salads and fancy and expensive foods from a high-class grocer's. As she looks back over the career that ended in financial ruin, she says, "I thought I was doing them a favor, but I see now that what they needed and wanted was corned beef and cabbage. If I had realized this in the first place they would have done better work and I would have saved money."

Foods must be selected not with reference to their nutritive value, but with reference to those who are going to eat them. Many foods such as baked beans, corned beef and cabbage, etc., which the stomach of the manual worker can digest and convert into nutriment, the stomach of the brain worker cannot digest at all, and hence they poison rather than nourish him.

It is a big subject and one that every woman ought to study. Any librarian will help you find books dealing with this matter. In my home I have a simple chart which gives a list of the food elements contained by the various foods, tells what these elements do for the body and suggests efficient menus. I should be glad to tell anyone who is interested where to get duplicates.

A visitor saw that chart on my table the other day. "All nonsense," she said, turning up her nose. That's one point of view. Here's hoping that my reader friends are too intelligent and too progressive to take it.

STATE CAPITALS SACRAMENTO

Sacramento, the capital of California, is located on the extreme northern edge of the belt in which the tourist may be properly cultivated, about 100 miles northeast of San Francisco.

At one time most of Sacramento was watered by the Sacramento river which flows by the city on the west and used to ramble through it without warning during the spring freshets. But the uplift movement got into Sacramento early and it has now been elevated above flood level. It is connected with the teeming east by two transcontinental railroads and with the magnificent fruit and vegetable fields of the Sacramento valley by steamboats, trolleys and good roads. Because of this latter fact, Sacramento is now a prosperous city of 50,000 people.

ple and takes a loud tender part in the California chorus of prosperity even if the tourist does not give down as generously there as he does farther south.

Sacramento began existence as a fort in 1839, and was founded by a Swiss officer named Sutter. Ten years later, when the city was composed of Sutter and a few squatters and some pariahs, Indians, gold was discovered. In six months Sacramento had 10,000 people and had offered $100,000 for the state capital—not to the legislators but to the state. It got the capital in 1854 and the present building is a handsome building, which was large enough to accommodate both the legislature and the Southern Pacific railroad—until Governor Johnson delivered his famous kick three years ago.

Sacramento ships 15,000 carloads of fruit each year, prints the text books for the entire state school system, repairs the locomotives for the Southern and Western Pacific railroads and grinds the wheat of the Sacramento valley into flour. Most of the men who dug millions out of the Sacramento valley moved out afterwards, but some of them stuck and the city is full of fine old families, who began existence with a pick and shovel, but lost their brogue shortly afterwards.

Sacramento suffered intensely from floods, fires and plagues in its earlier years, but has prospered greatly of late. It built the first section of the Central Pacific railroad in California in 1863, and succeeded in taming it a few years ago after a long struggle. It was once the toughest city in the world; but now takes pride in its fine art gallery and its libraries of over 200,000 volumes.

BRYAN IN SECOND DEFENSE OF THE COLOMBIAN TREATY

WASHINGTON, July 30.—A second formal statement in defense of the proposed Colombian treaty was issued tonight by Secretary Bryan. Without mentioning Colonel Roosevelt, Mr. Bryan replied to arguments advanced by the former president in his attacks upon the administration's proposal to pay Colombia $25,000,000 in settlement of claims growing out of the separation of Panama and acquisition of the canal zone by the United States.

Reiterating his declaration that in considering the treaty it is not necessary to examine into the merits of the controversy over the action of the United States in 1904, the secretary urged that even if the United States in acquiring the canal zone was exercising a right of eminent domain, it was not relieved of liability for actual damages resulting to Colombia.

Colonel Roosevelt recently asked the senate foreign relations committee to hear a statement from him before reporting the pending treaty. Chairman Stone replied that if the committee decided to pass upon the convention at this session it would be glad to hear from the colonel, but the general understanding is that the matter will go over until December.

BANKERS DECLARE WAR WILL BE BRIEF

LONDON, July 30.—That the Austro-Serbian conflict, if confined to those who are concerned, will be short was the prediction of bankers here. The reason for this, they say, is that neither of these countries can raise enough funds at home to continue the war, very long and that it is unlikely either of them can obtain money from outside sources.

Paris and London, it was stated, would be unlikely to accede to them, while Berlin could not do so if it wished. In the last Balkan crisis Austria-Hungary had to raise money in New York at extraordinarily high terms.

An advance in the rate for money is being predicted. The Bank of England will probably be powerless to do it. This would effectively diminish the power of other countries to draw upon it for gold.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 31, 1884.

E. A. Rider and Mrs. S. B. Pickett returned from a visit to friends in Iowa.
A fine herd of 2,000 cattle passed north of the city on the way to the White river country by way of South Park. They belonged to Richards & Latham.

It had been reported that Texas fever, which was afflicting cattle in various parts of the country, had broken out in this vicinity, but the report was vigorously denied by local cattlemen.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 31, 1904.

About 50 visiting Elks from Denver, Pueblo and Leadville, instituted lodge here and initiated about 75 candidates. The new lodge was to be known as No. 283, but the number was subsequently changed to 209 when the two factions of the national organization came together. Harry Inley was exalted ruler.

Over 600 people were at the casino in the evening to hear Joe Newman sing.

Prof. Florian Cajor of Colorado college had been given the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by Tulane university.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. W. A. Evans

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not available, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Re-answers for such service cannot be answered.

ANAEMIA AND DIRTY TEETH

The surgical operating room is a perfect machine. From operating surgeon through assistants, nurses, instruments, walls, floors—all down the line, the technique and equipment spells 100 per cent efficiency. What efficiency engineers talk about is seen in daily operation in the highest grade surgical amphitheatres.

The technique of asepsis in the surgical ward is not 100 per cent, as in the operating room, but it is much nearer so than is that in the medical ward. Time was when the surgical ward reeked with pus infection, and from it infection extended over into the medical ward. Now the surgical ward is aseptic and the effort is to prevent infections from overflowing from the medical ward.

From sources here and there is heard a plea that medical cases be surrounded with the same aseptic conditions that prevail in the case of surgical cases. Of these was the argument of Hill before the last meeting of the Canadian Public Health association that infection would lessen as cases of infectious diseases, scarlet fever, diphtheria, and the like, were treated aseptically.

The strongest plea that I have read is that of William Hunter of England. His argument is for clean mouths—oral asepsis. He does not discuss the theory that a dirty mouth promotes the decay of teeth. That needs no argument. Nor that diphtheria, scarlet fever and similar infections are spread by the mouth secretions. His argument is that the continued absorption of such bacteria as staphylococci and streptococci and their secretions from tartar accumulations around the teeth and from pockets in the gums is responsible for rheumatism, joint troubles, heart troubles, stomach troubles and severe anaemia.

Any physician will tell you that William Hunter is a world authority on severe anaemia. In his argument he cites a list of cases of profound anaemia, some of which would be called pernicious anaemia, which were due to foul mouths, and which got well when the mouth was kept clean. In some of the cases the absorption of pus was from some pocket other than the mouth. One was a case of rat-bite fever, an accumulation of pus in the frontal sinus. On the pus absorption from a pus pocket in the lung in a case of consumption. But oral sepsis as a cause overshadowed all others.

HAVE ANOTHER EXAMINATION

E. A. F. writes: "Does a rise in temperature of 98.6 to 100 in the afternoon suggest any indication of disease? My lungs have recently been examined and were found to be in perfect condition."

REPLY.
An afternoon rise of temperature of one degree is highly suggestive of tuberculosis. As you feel well and a physical examination has found your lungs sound it probably means nothing of your case. After a bit have another examination of your chest made. If it is negative, forget your trouble.

A complete physical examination may show some infection somewhere else.

SEE CAREFUL PHYSICIAN

E. S. W. writes: "I have a terrible burning in the stomach. I eat heartily, but cannot retain food part of the time. What should I do?"

REPLY.
Have a careful physician decide whether you have ulcers or cancer. This he will do by physical examination, chemical and microscopical tests and by the use of X-rays.

CURES FOR RINGWORMS AND WARTS

G. B. writes: "I know from experience that iodine will kill ringworm and chromic acid will kill warts without pain."

HAS RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

M. E. M. writes: "I have had rheumatism for about six years. Now doctors pronounce it arthritis and say nothing can be done, that all I can do is just to await developments of the disease, which may attack all joints in time. Will you kindly say if this is the case? Is there not some remedy to prevent such a condition? What do you advise?"

REPLY.
I judge you have rheumatoid arthritis. I advise you to have a thorough examination. This disease is due to chronic absorption from some infection located somewhere in the body. The suppuration is often located around the gums. It may be in the nose or tonsils. It may be in the gall bladder or in the colon tube. The focus should be located, then it should be cleaned up, if possible. A vaccine should be made from the affected area. This vaccine should be used persistently.

HAVE EAR EXAMINED

A. R. writes: "I'm going down the elevator from the third floor and upon reaching the fourth my left ear gets stuffed and starts to ring. A volume of air seems to get in and press on it. This continues about two minutes after I reach the ground floor. My tonsils and adenoids are removed. Please state the cause, cure, and if serious."

REPLY.
This phenomenon is often noticed by people as they go into mines or tunnels. That you have it when riding in a crowded elevator probably means that the tube of your middle ear is not quite as it should be. The condition is in no sense serious, but it is advisable to have your ear examined.

RICH LAWYER'S BODY IS FOUND IN RIVER

BEDFORD, N. J., July 30.—The body of Elliott Marshall, a lawyer with offices in Wall Street, New York, who has been missing since July 23, was found in the Passaic river near here. A fund of $50,000 was collected for him. Marshall's friends to search for him. The death of his baby daughter, six weeks ago, prayed upon his mind and it is thought to have caused his death.

REPUBLICANS OF SEVEN STATES MEET MONDAY

CHICAGO, July 30.—Chairmen of the Republican state committees of seven middle states will meet here Monday for a conference. It was made known today that the states represented will be Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconsin. A special subject of inquiry is to be the trend of opinion in the farming districts, as the Republican leaders are anxious to arrive at some conclusion as to the way the farmers feel about the new tariff.

MCOMBS CONFERRING WITH PARTY LEADERS

CHICAGO, July 30.—William F. McCombs of New York, chairman of the Democratic national committee, spent today here in conference with state political leaders.
"I am out here to get information as to how things are shaping up," said Mr. McCombs. "The senatorial situation is, of course, the most important, but I am not here to take sides."

THE FRANKLIN CALENDAR

JULY 31.
The first thing I remember of this kind was a general discourse in Boston when I was a boy of the complaint from North Carolina against New England rum, that it poisoned their people, giving them the dry-belly-ache with the loss of the use of their limbs. The distillers being examined, it was found several of them used leaden still heads and worms. (Philadelphia letter on lead poisons to Benjamin Vaughan) - 1785.

What the Press
Agents Say
BARNUM & BAILEY CIRCUS

One hears a great deal about the aristocracy of the stage, but little of the aristocracy of the "sawdust arena."
The reason for this is simple. In the eye of the public, while the stage is eminent, the real aristocracy of the amusement world, however, is found in the circus.
"I saw you ride the other night," said a young woman in a group that met Ella Bradna after a performance of the Barnum and Bailey circus. "I wish I could ride as well as you do. I think you are a really great equestrienne."

"Thank you," replied Miss Bradna.
"My maternal grandmother was a really great equestrienne." The flash in her eye denoted the great pride she felt in her lineage. While the aristocracy of the stage is fast becoming a memory, this is due to the changes made by time.

Conditions with the circus today are practically the same as they have always been. It is a form of entertainment that is given in large part by families. There are circus performers whose first playgrounds were the old earth-banked rings. The performer who cannot go back at least two generations in his circus ancestry is a fledgling.

THE "BROKEN BARRIER"

The Empress today will show a two-reel feature play, "The Broken Barrier." Delightful Winifred Greenwood and Ed Coxen take the leading roles.
It's a society drama and the American is noted for productions of this character.

Eunice Cosgrove discovers on the eve of her wedding to Jack Hillery, the son of a socially prominent but impecunious family, that her mother has married and is offering Eunice's fortune in exchange for the social position which Jack can give her daughter.
Young Hillery, being in love with Eunice, does not tell her of her mother's offer.

Eunice on her honeymoon tells Jack that their wedding must be one of form only and Jack, much puzzled, agrees. Finding his small fortune rapidly diminishing, Jack speculates in Wall street. By a strange chance he speculates in a stock in which his wife is heavily interested. His raid on the stock proves successful and while Eunice is lulled, Jack wins a small fortune.
Then the two start life over again, with all misunderstandings brushed away.

"Our Mutual Girl" also will be shown. Norma Phillips this week is in quest of "The Red Rose." And does the seashores along the Jersey coast, wearing some of the most stunning gowns and chic bathing suits you ever saw.

Then there is a Keystone comedy,
"Soldiers of Misfortune."

A Word to the Tourists in the Pikes Peak Region

Thousands of strangers are shopping about, undetermined as to where best, all-around service may be had. For this store it can be said that service is not permitted; that the accuracy of all statements is guaranteed; that the quality is of guaranteed quality; that our helpers are above the average in efficiency and courtesy; and, finally, that the contributing facilities are so fine that there is a distinct advantage to our customers in the values offered.
